Fairy Goose Libs!

This is a twist on the classic word game, Mad Libs. In this game, children fill in the blanks with silly words like 'banana' for a noun or 'wiggle' for a verb. Once all the blanks are filled, the story is read aloud, resulting in a goofy & entertaining tale that sparks laughter and creativity. Goose Libs is not only fun, but also helps kids learn about different parts of speech in a playful way, making it a perfect game for parties, classrooms, or family game nights.

Grow Your Own Beanstalk in Just a Few Days!

This is an easy experiment but it's GIANT fun!

Here's what you will need

- A dried bean (like a pinto, kidney, or lima bean)
- A clear glass jar
- Paper towels
- Water
- Sunshine

Instructions:

1. Soak the dried bean in water overnight to help it germinate.
2. Take a clear glass jar and dampen a paper towel. Place the damp paper towel inside the jar, ensuring that it sticks to the sides.
3. Place the soaked bean between the damp paper towel and the glass jar, making sure it's visible from the outside. You can also use two or three beans if you want to increase the chances of success.
4. Keep the paper towel damp by adding water to the jar whenever it starts to dry out. Place the jar in a sunny spot, like a windowsill, to encourage growth.
5. Over the next few days, you should start to see the bean sprout and grow roots. As it grows taller, you can use a pencil or a chopstick to gently guide it if needed.
6. Once the beanstalk has grown a few inches tall, you can transplant it into soil to allow it to grow into a full-size plant.
7. Watch your beanstalk grow and marvel at the magic of nature!
